Abstract of JP10307662

PROBLEM TO BE SOLVED: To enable character input without an error even on a push button(PB) telephone sets having no display device. SOLUTION: An input person presses a PB corresponding to a desired character to be inputted and the depression state is detected by a PB signal receiving means 502; and an input information decision means 503 discriminates the character that the input person has inputted and a voice output means 504 inputs a voice signal of the decided character to the PB telephone set 100, so that the character is voiced through a speaker 102. The input person releases the PB from being pressed when the voice corresponding to the desired character to be inputted. Thus, necessary character input is done. Similarly, other characters are inputted in order by following the same procedure.
